

“A challenge for leader-full and women led movements will be getting the old power structure to see and engage with them for what they are, rather than trying to turn themselves into something those existing structures can recognize”

New power page 192